

NIHR | Leicester Biomedical
Research Centre

NHS
University Hospitals
of Leicester
NHS Trust

Can you help improve our research and clinical services?

We are looking for people to join our Patient and Public
Involvement (PPI) group.

Find out more ↓

What does being a member of a PPI group involve?

-  Opportunity to take part in informal meetings with healthcare professionals and researchers
-  Give your opinion on the information provided to patients and carers
-  Give feedback on new and ongoing research
-  Reimbursed for your time

"We are a small group of patients and members of the public who are all volunteers. We add to the research mix by keeping the projects and leaders in touch with the reality of the practical patient experience."
John Hawkes (PPI member)

Reply form

If you are interested and happy for us to contact you about being part of the group please provide your name along with your email address or telephone number below, and return using the envelope provided. Or, you can contact us via: ✉ lorraine.voisey@uhl-tr.nhs.uk ☎ 0116 258 3986

Name

Phone Number

Email

Availability (AM/PM, days of the week)